"I wish you would read this piece in the Pilot on Socialism It has made me mad. I will belp the cause all I can.'

Thus a Catholic woman from Lowell, Mass., to this office, not long ago, enclosing a page of the Boston Pilot, with a marked article bear this heading in big type: "Socialism and its Fatuous Theories," and under it the words: "The following essay on Socialism was read by Mr. Edward F. Worse rubbish and slander against Socialism would be hard to find than that which follows in the two column verbatim report in the Pilot. Mr. McSweeney may be an ignorant man, or he may be a man willing to falsify and cunning! ly misreprensent, but I am inclined to put him down as a dupe himself and to conclude that much of the grotesque stuff he reals off has been put into his mind by eunning persons who have played upon his gullability. He has doubtless filled up with the stuff dealt in by Goldstein, the Common Cause, and their kind.

What a woeful picture is this! It would be truly awful if true. It happens to be about as untrue us out and out faischood itself. The home is to be desecrated by the fearful Socialists, and all the tenderest and most natural relations violated and condemned. Whew! And the "State" is to take the children away from their parents!

Direct action flects the state of mind of the small hourgeots, or indistruck it. Direct action flects the state of mind of the sman hourgeois, or individualist. It is not hard to pick the kind of men who fall a prey to such inagents as direct action. They get into the Socialist muvement on a mistaken conception of international Socialism and they gradually get out of it through some of these excitements of the impulses. You can never bank on such men, and they weaken and confuse the movement while they are in it.

GUSTAV HERVE tells, in a January London review, the sensational story of his treatment at the hunds of Italian officials when he went to Rome recently to speak on behalf of the Social-Democrats on war matters. It makes a thrilling narrative, calculated to arouse the indignation of the most unfeeling. He says:

"Was it really at Rome, this adventure? Not St. Petersburg? No, I am not dreaming; it was Rome, this adventure? Not St. Petersburg? No, I am not dreaming; it was Rome, vision of genius in a man of 1830 sure enough—Rome, whither I had days in advance. The barbarous, fiendish burning to death of men for assaulting women, does no good but incalculable harm. The fear of punishment, of any sort does not restrain a degenerate whose reason at the time he makes the assault is entirely dethroned or obscured by his animal passions. Once More Socialism is to Be Kiffed!

When Col. George Harvey, its editor, contributed an article to the United States government to pay the billions and billions of dollars required to bny the railways and organized industries, we were given to understand that Socialism had been completely demolished. It seems, lower of the lores of a more orderly progress.—Catholic Cilizo. however, that Col. Harvey's broadside failed to sink the Socialist craft. The colonel having exhausted his fire, another hero has leaped into the London National Review, has enlisted to put down Socialism. He has investigated the subject and has found that Socialism is an economic question. Having made this discovery, he reasons that the Jesuits and their imitators in the Protestant clergy are wasting their breath in damning Socialism as irreligious—quite unaware that every forward movement, from Christianity to anti-slavery, has been denounced as immoral by the high priests of the dominant religion. If Cardinal Gibbons condenens wnman's suffrage as immoral, he is not more consistent than the Grand Shiek of Islam, who denounces the revolt of the ladies of the harem against polygamy. Modernism is quite as distasteful to Mohammed's heirs as to Peter's successors.

Socialism is abhorrent because it is "materialistic." It proves nothing by appeal to the hocus pocus of the miracle worker. In opposing Socialism, the church is following in its historical footsteps. It invented the doctrine of the divine right of kings. It justified slavery. It became a feudal lord. It thundered against the revolution which marked the change from feudalism to capitalism. The very things that ir once condemned, it now is seeiing to make sacred. And when Socialism shall have established itself, the church will be found hugging t to its bosom and denouncing further progress as an impious affront o the daign of heaven.

For two or three hundred years in America, negroes were bought and sold, and treated like animals who had no aouls. Their females from tender girthood to old age, were continuously outraged by white men, and the law gave the victim no redress. Non-union shoes would pinch my feet and non-union clothes would chafe my skin. I would no more dream of patronizing a beycotted firm than I would dream of scabbing. All this is "direct" action.

Working class co-operation in European countries has reduced the cost of living and assisted the workers in win-ning many hard fought battles for higher wages. Therefore I have joined a co-operative society. We pur-

Yes, I have heary of these things. But I also now that the government which clubs my head during a like has been placed in power by the votes of my class.

I know that the injunction judge was elected with our votes. I also know that when the Taff-Vale decision threatened to wipe out English Trades unionism, our English brothers had sense enough to break into parliament and force the repeal of the objectional decision.

I know that if the Union label is not as effective as it should be, it is only so because a large portion of my class lacks the strength of character and the sense of solidarity to make the Label one of the most powerful weapons of our class.

I know that co-operation has been a miscrable failure in all such places where the workers lacked the ability to run their own business. But I have also found many flourishing co-operative enterprises in places where the workers were able to find the right kind of manager and stuck to him.

It also strikes me that a class that is unable to manaze democratically a weekly newspaper or a grocery store, would be in a sad plight if called upon to run the trusts.

Rome was not built in one day. It took six centuries to evolve the trust. The magnificent co-operative movement of Ghent, Belgium, "the Vooruit," started in a cellar bakery. The English co-operative movement, which transacted last year, four times as much business as the Ameri-

Socialists of Ontario have a chance for political action possessed by the Socialists of no other province.

Throughout Canada, with the exception of the local house of Ontario, candidates for representatives, either dominion or provincial, have to deposit from $100 to $200 before they can be nominated. If they do not succeed in getting one-hair the votes of the winning candidate received, the deposit is forfeited.

This pensity prevents Socialists putting forward candidates, for, while $100 means little to successful manufacturers and business men, it means a whole lot to the slave who gets

At the last Dominion elections in 1911, the Socialist vote was 6,996. There are 106 constituencies, and 49 locals of the Social-Democratic party. In some constituencies there are more than one local. I am disposed to think that the distinguished ex-judge referred to, was less inclined to defend lynching, than he was disposed to in-dulge in a little boasting about the alleged superiority of Southern men in protecting the chastity of women. I hope so. The cause of the frequent lynching of negroes by whites is not so much due to the color or because the negro is a black man, as to the fact that Capitalism kidnapped him, forced him into slavery, roobed him of his earnings and of his liberty, de-graded him to the level of the brute before the law, and although ne longer a legal slave he is looked upon by many whites as an infer-ior who has no rights that they

$10,000 00 To Help Sick People Get Well

Dr. F. W. Jiroch, the eminent specialist, has set aside this generous amount so that he may send Test Treatments free to sufferers who wish to get well and to prove the genuine efficacy of his medicine.

To prove how earnest and sincere is my purpose and to fully demonstrate that every claim I make is true, I will send my test treatment free to sny sufferer who really wants to be cured of Kidney and Biadder Aliments, Rheumatism or Catarrhal conditions, any Blood Disorder, Pimples, Nervous Weakness. If you want your Liver and Bowels regulsted, your oppetite improved, Dyspepsia cured—if you feel the need of a gennine medicine to hrace you up and restore your lost strength and ambition—if you want my advice on any private matter, then take a minute's time and send your application at once.

In making this offer I realize that it is likely to cost a lot of money, but when I know the great good I have done—when I think of the great numbers whose physical sufferings I have relieved, I would not be doing my duty as I see it nnless I used every effort in my power to reach the sick, weak and suffering wherever they may be—those who have failed with other treatments—those who have almost given up in despair, whether living in the city or in remote places where they are not supplied with modern, up-to-date and successful methods of curing disease.

For years I was content to trent by mail, only those sufferers who were referred to me by my satisfied patients, but I am convinced that my field is a much larger one—that I should not rest until my message has been carried to the nttermost parts of the earth. I want to prove at my own expense that I have the real remedies of unquestioned merit.

"Dr. Jiroch's services and counsel are frequently sought in those servicus cases which are likely to be brought to the large hospitals as a last resort, because he has long been recognized as exceptionally masterful in the selection ond administration of proper remedies, and in arriving of correct conclusions. His reliability ond in arriving at correct conclusions. His reliabili is unquestioned, his record clean and he always do is unquestioned, his exactly what he says.

The vast majority of patients I treat are those who have failed with other treatments. You may feel discouraged un account of past failures. Fatent medicines may have proven worthless; your home doctor may have exhausted himself—even pronounced your case incurable—but "his does not prove that I cannot help you. The worst cases come to me. My treatment may he a surprise to you. Set aside your donhts; try once more. Try at my expense. You have nothing to lose. I will also send you my Illustrated Medical Book "How to Get Back Your Heaith."

Accept my liberal offer-it places you under no obligations whatever. I repett-you are under no obligation to accept this free offer. No contracts; no express charges. I will pay the postage myself and deliver the treatment right to your own door without one cent of expense to you. Do not delay. Do not argue. Just say to yourself—"If Dr. Jiroch has so much con fidence in his ability and his treatment to go to all this expense, I am going to let him Iry." Just sign the request coupon below and mail it to Praises the Socialists.

MADISON, Wls., Jan. 31.—The Wisconsin Sinte Journal, a non-Socialist publication, on Tuesday Geroted over two columns to the Socialists in the state legislature. It tells of the economic way they have of living, it how they are installed in a comportable home, presided over by Assemblyman Vint's wife, and speaks of a meal prepared by Mrs. Vint that was sufficient to satisfy the inner man of anybody which cost each of the seven members the small sum of 16 cents. The seven Social-Demercats—six assenblimen and one senator—whu were sent to the legislature, form a group of earnest serious men who Madison is dissatisfied with the reg-ulation it is getting, and the bill will without doubt have the support of the representative of this city. Other cities that are fighting poor service are La Crosse and Superior. With four of La Crosse and Superior. With four of the largest cities of the state willing to take the matter of regulation into their uwn hands, there is a good chance for the passage of the Vint hill.

It has been proven beyond a doubt that the railroad commission has too much wurs to do. It has been proven assenbinen and one senator—who were sent to the legitlature, form a croup of earnest serious men who have the estimate and regard of the entire legislature," says The Journal. These men have convictions, deep and clearly defined, and fight stubbarnly for them. They work long and mard in all that they do. That they come here and fight an almost hopeless battle, except from the standpoint of principle, and do it gracefully and with a smile of hope for the future, added to their methods of living and siews of life, combine to make this group of seven legislature one of the legislature.

"The Socialists come from the shops and the ordinary walk of life. They are fighting the fight of the workingman as they see it. Most of them work for malarles, and work hard for call they receive. Economy and comthat it cannut even regulate the up from other parts of the state.

There are several members of the legislature, not Social-Democrats, who believe that a city should have the power to regulate its own affairs insofar as they do not interfere with the remainder of the state. They feel that the railroad commission or any other body should be relieved of a power, teat is distinctly a home rule power.

Socialist bills which will be discussed in committees on wednesday are: By Kiefer—A bill relating to costs and fees in civil actions; a bill relating to actions to foreclose land contracts and the judgment to be entered in such actions. By Vint—A joint resolution memorializing congress in regard to the election of federal judges by the people. By Miakiey—A joint resolution providing an amendment relating to injunctions. Thursday: By Kiefer—A bill relating to restraining orders and injunctions.

The continued hearing at the bill providing for the payment of weekly wages, introduced by Assemblyman Minkley will be held Feb. 18. Since the hearing of last week, when the railroad officials and some of the employes of the companies appeared in opposition to the measure, several workers have declared that they are in favor of the measure.

FOND DU LAC.

FOND DU LAC.

FOND DU LAC—Since writing you before, I attended a meeting of farmers and consumers at Fond du Lac. The meeting was called by no organization, just a spontaneous action of those having a progressive spirit, stimulated, possioly, by the high cost of flying. The object of the meeting was for the purpose of organizing a conjugative stock company, to engage in any or all businers to lower the high cost of living. That co-operation is in the air is evidenced by the fart that these few workers got nearly 75 subscribers in about two weeks. One of the speakers, a manager of a co-operative store at Wanpan, made the statement that 11 co-operative stores had been started in the stale stace the new co-operative law had been enacted. These stores? 'we been organized by the Right Relationship league of Minneapolis. This shows a great interest in co-operation or else high prices or both. Besides these, the Equity society has organized quite a few co-operative stock sompanies, to say nothing of the independent companies. Under these conditions a few ware workers could get together and send ont to these societies and get much of their supplies direct from the producers in the way of eggs, butter ponliry, dressed hogs, veal, etc. A barber said to me, that he saw a butcher huy n cow of a farmar for sc per pound and when he beight some of the cow it cost him 15c. He thought that was too much difference.

As I said before, the wage workers are get ing behind the farmer in tibis co-operative movement. Why do they not call son the board of public affairs to tell them how the municipal distributing houses may be established? Agitation means education, and there is no other way out.

Three Kinds of Strange Birds There are in the world a great many varieties of bird. In this little essay on birds written for the information of my youthful readers, i will mentiun but three varieties, but hose three are very strange birds or at least have strange inabits. The bird of Africa, known as the "Hornbill," is very odd in the matter of needing. When the mother bird wants to sit on her four or five eggs and hatch out her babies, she finds a hole in a dead tree, there she and her mate build a nr.c. Than the eggs are laid and the female adjusts herself on the nest to remain about twent one days. The male now carries mud and I asters or walls up the door or opening, all except a hole just large enough for the female to poke her bill through. This she does occasionally when the male feeds her, but she eats very little during the three weeks. When the babies are hatched out the mother picks away the mud-door from the inside, and the father from the outside. There is another strange bird found in the East Indies which are said to be very rare. The beak of the male is short and strong while that of the female is fine, long and curved. The male's work is to break with his strong bill the tough hark of trees in order that his mate may introduce her hointed beak into the holes dug into the trunk by losects and so extract food. When the male detects an "insect haunt" he lays it hare and the female builts forth the prey with her beak, divides it in two, gives the male his portion and eats the other, continuing the process until both have had enough. Consequently the death of one or the other means starvation to the survivor, the female being unable to break the bark of trees and the male to take out the prey when its presence is exposed. The third strangs bird that I will briefly mention, is sometimes called the "Ragpicker," and sometimes is known as the "Trimpeter." This bird is found only in the swimps of Guiana where a writer says he is always at work at his trade, with his stomach for a pack and his bill

I have, in former contributions, written about ants for the instruction and amusement of Our Young Folks, but did not by any means exhaust the subject. Naturalists take untiring interest in the ways of those little insects.

Charles Darwin says that the brain of the ant is the most wonderful speck of matter in the universe. Prof. Romanes in his book gives us some highly interesting accounts of anis, which prove that they are very intelligent even if cuite warlike. Here is a community carrying on their affairs hy co-operative methods. The writer says:

"I am astorished at their architecture. Yonder is a palace with royal occupants; and around it guards with comfortable quarters and rations in abundance. I never saw such steady industry exhibited by any peopls. The city is bear-vifully clean. There is not one bad smell from a font drain. The air sweeps sweet and pure through every stract. Yonder I see busy workers throwing an arch across the street, and fitting the keystone to its place. That hill is worked to a smeoth incline: and here where it is steepest is a flight of sieps. Near by is a cansi with a street tunneled under it. Order and industry everywhere. I cannot see a beggar or a cripple. No one seems in want, and I cannot discern that one is richer than another. I cannot hear what they say, but they seem to have telephones, for I notice that any item of news or an order from headquarters seems known instantly to every citizen.

"I see the inhabitants cutting leaves off the trees, plling those leaves in heaps, and using them as hot beds where tiny musbrooms grow, which seem to be the chief food of this people. "There a little further on is a nation who have servants, and yet I notice the servants are as well off as their mysters. But over

Noble and haughty in his aspect, he raises himself up on his iong, yellow gaitered legs and seems to say: "I am the trumpeter, the scourge of the reptiles and the protector of the flocks."

The birds of the most beautiful plumage are chiefly natives of doutries in the torrid zone. But we have many handsome ones in the United States. It is a fact that rany very plain hirds sing more sweetly than those possessing more elegant plumage. Doubtless most of my hoy and girl readers have heard the statement: "It is not fine feathers that make fine birda."—R. A. Dague.

SALT LAKE CITY. Utah.—Henry W. Lawrence, Socialist, is acting as mayor of the city. Mr. Lawrence will head the minicipality for probably three weeks and then retire.

Mayor Samuel G. Park departed for the East, and the municipal destinies fell upon Mr. Lawrence, who is the commissioner of finance and public works.

NAPLES, Italy.— The Neapolitan strike against the high cost of living continued today, but rioting was checked by the presence of troops. Soldiers patrolled the streets and the city had every appearance of being under martial law, though military rule was not actually proclaimed.

Practically ail of the workingmen of Naples agreed to strike as a protest against the increased cost of living produced by higher duties imposed on imported foodstuffs, la order to increase the public revenue. Women joined in the movement. Street cars were etopped, ehops closed, milis and factories shut down and all business was at a etandstill.

Mass meetings were held yesterday in halls and on street coraers and indiammetory speeches against the church an: the state were made.

At the request of municipal anthorities, Italian troops were rushed here. Dozens of arrests were made and eoveral women injured.

Today there was apprehension that the movement would spread to nearby towns and perhaps throughout Italy.

PREPARE FOR WOMAN'S DAY.

To the average voter one of the most remarkable phases of the American Socialist party is its increased advocacy and support of the suffrage movement. Special committees and departments have been created in state and national organizations. In order that greater attention may be devoted to the education of potential women voters, classes in civics, economics and politics have been organized, eocial centers have been created, and now their latest move is the setting aside of Feb. 23 as National Woman's day, On this day every man and woman, every official, lecturer and lay member will celebrate. Millions of leaflets will be distributed. The entire Socialist party will think, eing, talk and work for the industrial and political freedom of women. Local Socialists will celebrate. PREPARE FOR WOMAN'S DAY.

The transformation of the erowd into the people—profinund task! It is to this labor that the men called Socialists have devoted themselves during the last forty years. A certain hatred of Socialism, very blind, but very general, has raged for many years, and is still raging very bitterly among the influential classes. Let it not be forgotten that true Socialism has for its end the elevation of the masses to civic dignity, and that, therefore, its principal care is formoral and intellectual cultivation.—Victor Hugo. The International Socialist movement is of modern origin. It has no counterpart in history, it would have been impossible in any preceding age.

have been impossible in any preceding age.

The conquest of the forces of nature, the marvelous progress in the arts and sciences and, the almost miraculous mechanical achievements of the past century have practically revolutionized the modern world. There are no longer any dark continects, isolated nations, and remote regions of the earth. All nations and all peoples have been drawn irresistibly together toward the common center of humanity and compelied more and more by the logic of events to recognize the universal kinehip of the human race. Ever since 1 left the college halla. To years ago, I have been a Socialist, a Collectivist. In common with the whole international Socialistical production now controlled by trusts or great private -aterprises for private profit shall return into the harms of the nation as a whole, which shall minage and operate them for the benefit of all, by the aid of its industrial redurnitions of the nation as a whole, which shall minage and operate them for the benefit of all, by the aid of its industrial redurnitions of the nation as a whole, which too many Socialist leaders constant in communal administrations. Each nation thus transformed, I saw it federated with other nations in one vast social republic. A United States of the World, an international Federation of Labor.

But, while the immense majority of the Socialist party in all countries seemed to each the corne into being through the normal operation of the partilamentary system. Hervelsm—nors what was cained by that name—incessantly reminded the French working people that force still remains the great midwife of social change.

These workers recognize all others of whatever vace or sex, color or creed, as their brothers. They have become class conscious. They have left behind there ine primitive individual tools with which their forbears worked by and for themselves and eked out a mere existence, and with these to is of a bysone use they have left behind the selfish epirit engenderd in the struggle for existence, and in its place there has come the social spirit which recognizes the rights of the collectivrecognizes the rights of the collectivity and insists that justice shuil be meted out to all.

These are the Socialists who in the past have been ridiculed, despleed, imprisoned, but whose movement today commands the respect uf the whole civilized world.

The Socialist party is a political factor of increasing importance. It is now a national party in fact as well as in name. It is organized in every state in the union. Its campaign is wholly one of education and organization. It does not plead for votes, and not a penny of its funds is ever expended to improperly influence a vote in its favor. It is concerned only in arousing men and women to the necessity of thinking for thinselves and acting together for their common good. It points nut to the workers hat their interests are identical, that unlied they have the power to conquer their freedom and to rise to a higher plane and to a nobler-life than they have yet known, and this appeal is made to them from a thousand public platforms and street corners overy hour of the day by the tireless cru-have yet known, and this appeal is made to them from a thousand public platforms and street corners overy hour of the day by the tireless crusaders of the working class revolution. Once the spirit of this mighty movement has taken hold in the heart of man he can no more resis, preaching its gospel than he can ceese to breathe it burns within him like a holy fire upon the aitar of his soul and he finds joy in what others call sterrifice.

The Socialist party is the only party which demands in the name of the working class the collective ownership of the machinery of production and in the name of the people the control of all government.

It is the cally party which stands for the true freedom of the masses, for genuine democracy, for twentieth century civilization.

It is warse than folly far people to talk about democracy while the social means of life are the private property of the few and while the millions of workers have not so much as a joy they can call their own.

The democracy of Socialism is based upon the common ownership by all the people of all the sources of wealth and all the social means of wealth production and distribution. Any other kind of democracy must prove a delusion and a enerce.

class struggle between labor and capital which is shaking the whole social fabric to its foundations.

The Socialists, recognizing this fact

NEW YORK CITY.— That the So-Nail-Democratic party will again capture Milwaukee and other cities, was the deciaration of Congressman Victor L. Berger, Wisconsin, at a luncheon of the City club Mondny, in expanding the Socialism that made Milwaukee famous.

"Milwaukee," he said, "will stay Socialist for 30 years and maybe forever, because the tendency is evolutionary and to the direction of social economy in municipal and state governments. Nothing can check it. Workingmen are learning that Socialism is not the red devil they had been taught to regard it. Fifty years ago the doctrines of 5 heodore Hooseveit would have been called 'anarchistic."

Congressman Berger declared that lack of home rule to offset injunctions was chiefly responsible for the party's recent defeat in Milwaukee. Ho said that closing the "red light district" put a damper on excursione from Chicago and conscienceless business "lost trade" and got tired of reform.

Heaven knows how to put a proper orice upon its goods; and it would be strange, indeed, if so celestial an article as Freedom should not be highly

A TALK WITH HERALD READERS.

The final revised official figures for the presidential election held n November, which are as correct as they will ever be known, give the Socialist party candidates 901,106 votes.

This is a gain over 1908 of over 112 per cent.

Since almost everyone who votes the Socialist ticket becomes a propagandist and a missionary for the cause, there is no limit to the possibilities of what may be accomplished before another presidential election comes around.

While every ant is a fighter at times of other species of anta, yet they have no fights immons themselves, and when they meet they kiss or salite each other. But while they conduct all their community business on the co-operative or Socialistic pian, they do sometimes form an army of their largest and strongest inhabitants and go at the another part of the orchard or field, and ware a fierce war upon another nation of ants of a different species. Such campaigns are conducted on regular military plans. If they defeat the enemy, they lake a lot of prisoners, whom they march home with their and make slaves of them. When the slaves die they bury them in a different cemetery from the one used in which they intertheir own dead. Their industrial and political systems are clearly Socialistic, but as they still go to war and enslave the prisoners taken in war, indicotes that they are not yet fully neveloped Socialists. Writers say that they freed their slaves the same food they cat and do not compel them to work harder than they themselves labor.—R. A. Dague.

Birds and Animals Hold Courts and Play Jokes

Charles Duwbarn insists that many animals and birds not only possess reasoning power. but a sense of justice and of humor. He says that animais have a sense of justice and punishment for wrong doing. It is well known that ronke actually form parliaments, and with noisy legal discussion try offenders who are usually in the center of a circle. If the accused are found guilty they are picked to death. Sometimes the verdict is "aon proven," for all fly away, leaving the prisoner untouched. These parliaments are common in india, but are occasionally held in England. "I had a pet canary that used to hop about on the deek whe '! I was writing, looking for a half hidden hemp seed. One day I teased it by covering the eeed with my finger, and kept on writing. Suddenly i fall a hair pulled right sharply. I looked around, but the canary was sitting quietly on the hack of a ebair. In a moment or two he pulled my heir again, and always after that if I teased him he would pay me off in the same emusing way."

The Magazine of Natural History tells of a horse that used to delight in getting small boys into a corner. He wand keep them there, shaking his head and neighing if they attempted to get out, till somebody had to go and take him away.

Mr. Cambodla, who has written quite a bit about animals, says that monkeys delight to try who can most tease? a crocodile taking a noon nap, by jumping on him, and switching tim with the bough of a tree. If the crocodile enaps and misses the monkey there is a roar of lapplaine from his relatives watching the fun. Every now and then the joker gets caught. Then for awhile there is agd silcace. We find that animals and birds have pride, anger, jeatousy, revengo and tyranny, but so have that animals have a sense of justice and puupropensities. If be does not, then it may be said be is living on the animal pince and is really an animal, for he manifests no more mentality than the bee or ant if the size of his brain is compared to those insects. In all the past, men in authority have been as cruel to their race as saving animals are cruel to their kind. I am a Socialist, and because 2 am 1 plead for my posithful readers to cultivate kindness and thus live above the raimal zone or plane.—It. A Dague.

Some Animals Play Games

Nature students who have made careful observations say that many animals play games. That they have a sense of wit and fun is certain. Who has not noticed that fact in two pup dogs playing and kittens frolicking with each other or with a ball or spool of thread. Mr. Ditmars of the Zoological park of New York tells about watching three Peruvian Chinchillas play "squat tag".

The one who was "it" would give a little squeak and at the signal the other two would roll over. The third would try to nip the tall of one of the other two, if he could reach one of them before the animal he was "tagging" had completely rolled on its back. This done, the chinchilla that had been "tagged" would be "it," and they would begin again.

Squirrels have an organized game which include the "it," and they would begin again.

a fixed goal. Hadgers piay to and also play as good a game of "Puss in the corner" as most children as good a game of "Puss in the corner" as most chi'dren

As an experiment, Mr. Ditmars took five guinen pigs and put them ha a cage where they had a cone view of the badgers ut pluy. In time, he says, the little pigs began to take notice, and after several days it was obserted that they were gluying "ing" in a very unsystematic manner. Experience or observation tunght them better and in time the five became very proficient players.

It is supposed that reptiles are about the lowest in the scale of the animal kingdom, but they use reasoning powers. I once heard of a nam who tensed a snake that was trying to hido in a hole in the gruund. For severnitimes the reptile nearly succeeded in getting into the hole when the man would make a spring, catch him by the tall and sling him away a few feet. This process was repeated a good many times. Finuity Mr. Snake cantiously crawled to the hale, coiled himself over it and, slowly went in backwards his head disappearing last. As his tormentor appeared he darted his ton, se out at him most threateningly and turned himself round and rounding other man walked round him. Here is very clear proof that, even snakes passess reasoning powers.—R. A. Dague.
